

OUR SERVICES

Family Law Fixed Fee Advice Packages

Our family law team helps clients find the most beneficial outcomes for themselves and their families, often in difficult circumstances

We advise clients in all family law situations including those involving separation, divorce, children, and financial issues.

Preliminary Advice Package

We understand that clients are understandably anxious to avoid uncertainty and unforeseen costs. Our preliminary Advice Package is designed to give you a clear understanding of your options and the remedies available to you in the event of separation including different methods of dispute resolution, all at a fixed fee.

Undefended Divorce Package

If you have children under 16, have no financial matters to deal with or have resolved all financial matters, and have been separated for one year (where both agree to the divorce) or two years (if one party does not consent), then an undefended divorce package would be appropriate for you.

Simplified Divorce Package

This package is appropriate for separating couples who have resolved all financial matters between them, have no children under 16 and have been separated for one year (where both agree to divorce) or two years (if one party does not consent.)

Cohabitation Agreement

Cohabitants now have rights on separation and death. This package is suitable for couples who intend to buy a property together and wish to regulate what would happen to the equity in their property should they separate.

Cohabitation agreements are particularly important for couples who are contemplating buying a property together with different contributions to the deposit and want to ensure that they know what will happen to that property in the event of separation or death.

Family Law Fixed Fee Advice Packages

To find out more or arrange an initial consultation, please call 0131 229 1212 or email familylawteam@lindsays.co.uk

Our other services

If your query does not fall within our fixed fee packages, we are able to offer bespoke advice on a range of issues.

Our specialist advice on family law covers:

- adoption and parental rights
- civil partnership
- bespoke cohabitation agreements
- divorce and separation
- domestic violence – protection from abuse
- financial issues on divorce
- international aspects of family law
- international child abduction
- legal guardianships for adults with incapacity
- prenuptial and postnuptial agreements for people and businesses. Throughout our long history we have constantly adapted and evolved, but our core ethos – to provide expert, accessible and reliable lawyers – has endured.

We are owned and run in Scotland, covering the country from our offices in Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Dundee. We are local lawyers, close to you and your business.

We are expert individuals working as a team, able to cater for all your needs. We are not offering a transaction; we are offering a relationship. We are not just lawyers; we are your lawyers. That's the Lindsays' way.

