As part of your answer, explain how you ensure that stakeholders know why the scheme exists, what it does and what to expect from it (Ombudsman Association six principles of good governance, Clarity of Purpose).	ADR is offered in UK cases only. Provider is based in Scotland but will take cases from any part of mainland UK. The ADR provider is a solicitor in private practice and is a partner in the firm Lindsays so is independent of the traders who might refer cases into the ADR provider. The fees are met by the traders to make the service accessible to members of the public. The trader T&Cs have referral to ADR as final stage in the complaints process. The ADR provider operates under her own mediation terms and conditions which are provided to both parties at the outset of the case. An initial telephone/email exchange explains how the process works and at every stage the ADR provider ensures both parties understand what is happening and that they can effectively participate. The parties are given a clear overview of the process, timescales, what information will be needed and what to expect. Throughout the process the ADR provider checks that parties are clear on the process.

This should include how you ensure that parties to a dispute fully understand the process where a conflict arises, and how you ensure that any ADR officials who work part-time in another capacity are not conflicted by their non-ADR duties (Commission standards p19).	Regulated by Law Society of Scotland and subject to professional rules and standards re conflict of interest, not employed by any gambling operators, terms and conditions of mediation set out clearly how process will be handled and sticking to these ground rules ensures fairness and impartiality.

Nothing is held in confidence from other party, terms and conditions set out rules for process, parties are told at outset likely timescales and if anything changes parties are informed. Parties are regularly updated as case progresses.
Effectiveness Please demonstrate how you meet the requirements of the ADR Regulations Schedule 3, section 6. As part of your answer, please explain how you ensure that the scheme achieves its outcomes efficiently and represents good value for money (Ombudsman Association six principles of good governance, Effectiveness). Parties understand that information will be shared. As an experienced family mediator the ADR provider is very aware of power imbalances and uses skills and experience to combat them.
Legality Please demonstrate how your process meets the requirements of the ADR Regulations, Schedule 3, section 11.	The process is voluntary. The gambling operator which most often uses the ADR service has agreed to abide by recommendations made in mediation summary.
