

OUR SERVICES

Industrial Disease Claims

Our specialist industrial disease lawyers have helped clients win compensation in a wide variety of cases, often complex or contentious

We have assisted clients operating across many different sectors from shipbuilding to textiles, and understand the issues associated with these specific industries.

We help clients with claims for a wide range of diseases and conditions, such as:

- industrial deafness or tinnitus
- asbestos-related diseases, including pleural plaques, asbestosis, mesothelioma, diffuse pleural thickening, and asbestos-related lung cancer
- vibration related diseases/HAVS (hand arm vibration syndrome)
- skin conditions such as dermatitis
- non-asbestos respiratory diseases and work-related asthma
- nuclear/radiation related disease.

Vigorous pursuit of clients' interests

As well as seeking compensation for pain and suffering, we seek to recover payments for loss of earnings, loss of earning capacity, and the cost of care or support required to manage any of these conditions.

We have assisted clients across many different industries including shipbuilding, textiles, tobacco, steel, construction and engineering. We can therefore advise on likely obstacles or defences associated with specific sectors.

Industrial Disease Claims

We can also assist with making claims when a former employer is no longer active.

All-round support

Throughout each claim, we use state-of-the-art case management software to maximise ease, efficiency and convenience for clients – from enabling them to upload photos from smartphones, to prompt progress reporting.

Appointing a dedicated claims handler for each case also maximises efficiency and service.

In addition, we can use our extensive network in this sphere to connect clients and their families with specialists in anything from rehabilitation and care provision to home modifications.

Wherever possible, we aim to deal with claims on a 'No win, no fee' basis.
