Medical and Dental Negligence Claims

We support clients on a wide range of medical and dental negligence claims, from misdiagnosis to problems arising from treatment or surgery

We regularly help people make medical negligence claims, if they have suffered unexpected problems following medical or dental treatment, advice or surgical procedures.

Our specialist medical and dental negligence solicitors have many years' experience in this area, both advising clients on whether they have a sound basis for a claim, and taking them through the claims process to achieve the best results possible.

Our breadth of experience

Typical claims we deal with include:

- misdiagnosis
- labour/birth injuries
- hospital/GP treatment
- surgical errors
- dental treatment.

The treatment could be by either private healthcare providers or the NHS.

In dealing with claims, we always remember how distressing the circumstances can be for clients. We therefore keep the claims process as smooth and stress-free as possible, whilst targeting clients' long-term wellbeing and financial security.

A range of compensation

Our team can assist with obtaining compensation for:

- injuries sustained as a result of the negligence
- medical treatment/rehabilitation/aftercare that may be required to support recovery
- loss of earnings and associated benefits
- assistance provided by relatives.

Advice on timing and other practicalities

With all personal injury claims, there is a three-year time limit. We can advise on when this three-year period will start running in each case, ensuring that problems with the timing of a claim do not jeopardise its success.

We also guide clients through practicalities such as keeping records of conversations with the medical team involved, and getting copies of medical records. Handling this well from the outset can help ensure a satisfactory settlement, so we recommend seeking our advice as early as possible.

All-round support

Throughout every claim, we use state-of-the-art case management software to make the process as efficient and convenient for clients as possible.

Wherever possible, we aim to deal with claims on a 'No win, no fee' basis.
